

Effectively stick to compliance rules in the context of product safety and always pass your environment, health & safety audits!

PRODUCT STEWARDSHIP

The number and complexity of regulatory requirements in the chemical and pharmaceutical industry is constantly increasing. Take advantage of our many years of experience and optimize your operational safety together with us. Create a comprehensive implementation of product safety, hazardous substance management, handling of dangerous goods, and risk management in every step of your production. Use EH&S, the tool for effective product stewardship.

CONSILIO ensures compliance with the various regulations worldwide and supports you in passing your environment, health, and safety audits. With our help you can create a consistent handling and documentation of hazardous substances throughout all production steps and avoid fines and industrial accidents. Always act in conformity with the law.

WE HELP YOU HANDLING YOUR CHALLENGES

Classify chemical substances correctly and thus ensure product safety

Thanks to many years of experience in the chemical and pharmaceutical industry, CONSILIO's experts can implement central and comprehensive product safety throughout all production steps, marketing, and areas of your company:

- We analyse your product range, identify and classify all relevant hazardous substances and maintain your specifications.
- We keep your content up to date. This ensures that your reports and relevant documents are always according to the latest rules. Your products will consequently be classified and labelled in compliance with the respective regulation.
- With the help of our experts, you create and archive all relevant documents and reports. Your safety data sheets will be created automatically and appropriately and sent in any given language and for all marketing regions.

Meet REACH requirements and track substance quantities

As experts for production planning, we are able to determine and monitor the exact amount of substances in your company. We will support you in:

- Ensuring centralized and comprehensive substance volume tracking of your company. In addition, condensed and multi-year material quantity movements can be documented. In this way, you'll be able to effectively control your material movements in every step of production.
- We link quantities of hazardous substances with the respective legal requirements. If certain hazardous substance quantities reach predefined thresholds, an alarm function is activated.
- Our experts establish Substance Volume Tracking (SVT) in your company. This ensures that you always comply with the REACH Fee Regulations.

Safe transport of dangerous goods and compliance with global transport regulations

We ensure legal compliance of your hazardous goods management, in accordance with global transport legislation:

- We implement the dangerous goods master data centrally for your company and maintain them for you in compliance with the latest legislation
- This enables you to create all necessary dangerous goods documents for transport in a simple and safe way. It gives you the certainty that you always have the correct dangerous goods documents, UN numbers and the current emergency response catalogue in use.

Comply with safety regulations for occupational health and environmental protection

Minimize risks and benefit from the expertise of our competent consultants. With this, you make sure that occupational health, incident and accident management as well as waste management always comply with the current legal requirements.

Our many years of experience in the chemical and pharmaceutical industry enable us to introduce a comprehensive, effective, and centralized risk management system for all production steps in your company. We ensure that the area of health, safety and environment is covered in its entirety and complies with all necessary compliance regulations. Only in this way you can be sure that your company operates a legally compliant risk management system.

We enable your company to prepare risk assessments on workplaces, substances, environment, and health. Our experts are thus able to derive risk management measures individually adapted to the situations in your company.

OUR SERVICE PORTFOLIO

Implementation of EH&S

Our understanding of your processes is the key.

Therefore, our experts start your EH&S implementation project with an evaluation workshop, where all necessary details will be determined. Subsequently, a „process readiness“ workshop gives your company an insight into whether your internal processes are ready for an EH&S implementation.

We propose an appropriate process design and compile an individual project and budget plan. The next step is to implement the desired process design into your system. With our knowledge we help you to customize your system according to your requirements.

After a successful functional test, we carry out the acceptance test necessary for the rollout together with you and transport all required master data into your production system.

We intensely support you during the go-live phase and assist you with your project approval. We also offer individual post-go-live services such as data maintenance, document adaptation and many other maintenance services.

For many customers, it will not be possible to use a „greenfield“ approach to the transformation to S/4HANA, i.e. to build a completely new and isolated EH&S system. Most of the companies don't have another option than the tedious and time-consuming way of converting their existing system.

This transformation is technically extremely demanding. We have the experience in the S/4HANA conversion of all SAP modules, carry out the transformation of your system and support you effectively and successfully.

With SAP EH&S you have product stewardship fully under control: Product compliance and risk management are thus securely covered worldwide.

EH&S S/4 Conversion

SAP SE has announced that it will only support the R/3 ECC 6.0 platform until 2027. SAP is already investing a large part of its development in S/4HANA products.

EH&S Applications Outsourcing

Use our Application Management Services to ensure a fast response time as well as high planning and operational reliability. Remain permanently „compliant“ thanks to CONSILIO AMS.
